Felipe Esparza

Thursday, 08 Aug 2024 @ 6:30 PM

Felipe Esparza is a Latin-American comedian from East-Los Angeles who might best be known for winning the televised talent competition Last Comic Standing in 2010. With a keen eye for the innate, yet hilarious details of life, and a razor sharp wit, Esparza started off building a name for himself in Southern California comedy clubs, but soon graduated to the national level after winning the top prize of the aforementioned NBC-broadcast TV show. Though his style of humor might not fall into the "family friendly" category, Esparza's ability to transcend political correct boundaries and create a characteristic style of humor is nearly unrivaled in the modern stand-up comedy scene. .

Trevor Noah

Tuesday, 05 Nov 2024 @ 8:00 PM

Trevor Noah is a stand-up comedian from South Africa who got his start in entertainment as a radio DJ host and actor before focusing on comedy. Born from Swiss father and South African mother, he infuses his brand of comedy with observations about race and ethnicity, particularly his own mixed-race heritage and experiences during apartheid while growing up in an urban Soweto township in Gauteng, South Africa. After releasing his stand-up special The Daywalker, on DVD, he earned his own television program titled Tonight with Trevor Noah, on MNet, and is the featured subject in David Paul Meyer's 2012 documentary, You Laugh But It's True.
